Gender:	The socially constructed roles, behaviors, activities, and attributes that a given society considers appropriate for males and females.
Gender Expression:	The manner in which a person expresses his or her gender through clothing, appearance, behavior, speech, etc. Gender expression is a separate concept from sexual orientation and gender identity. For example, a female may have a very masculine appearance, but may identify as a heterosexual female.
Gender Identity	A person's internal, deeply felt sense of being masculine, feminine, or other gendered, regardless of person's birth sex.
Gender Nonconforming:	A person whose appearance or manner does not conform to traditional societal gender expectations.
Harassment:	Includes, but is not limited to, name-calling; disrespectful gestures, jokes, or comments; inappropriate touching; threats of physical or emotional acts or negatives consequences, physical abuse; sexual abuse, and emotional abuse. Attempting to change a youth's sexual orientation or gender identity is also a form of harassment.
Intersex:	A person whose sexual or reproductive anatomy or chromosomal pattern does not seem to fit typical definitions of boys/men or girls/women. Many medical and some advocacy communities now use the term "Disorder" or "Differences" of Sex Development (DSD) to distinguish between such medical conditions and a person's self-label or identity. Not all people who are born with a DSD identify as intersex.
Lesbian:	A girl or woman who is primarily emotionally, romantically, and/or sexually attracted to girls or women.
Sex:	The biological and physiological characteristics that define males and females.
Sexual Orientation:	A person's emotional, sexual, and/or relational attraction to others. This can include attraction to people of the opposite sex/gender (heterosexual), the same sex/gender (gay/lesbian), multiple sexes/genders (bisexual or pansexual) or even a lack of attraction on a sexual basis (asexual).
Transgender:	A person whose actual or perceived gender identity or gender expression does not match society's expectations of how an individual should dress or behave in relation to their assigned gender. Transgender is an umbrella term that is used to describe those who transgress socially constructed gender norms. As an umbrella term, transgender can include various communities such as transsexuals, intersex individuals, cross-dressers, drag queens, etc. Most commonly, however, transgender is the preferred term used to refer to someone who identifies as transsexual or a person whose biological sex does not match the person's gender identity. Not all transgender people take steps to alter their physical presentation. Sexual orientation varies and is not dependent on gender identity.
